

Web Site Privacy Policy

---

Energy Instrumentation Solutions' policy is to respect and protect the privacy of datalogger.com web site visitors. Accordingly, Energy Instrumentation Solutions (EIS) DOES NOT collect visitor's personal information or information about their computer without their permission. However, we will analyze information about our visitors as a group to make our web site better, but visitors are not individually identified when we do this.

EIS will collect personal information such as names, mailing addresses, e-mail addresses, phone and fax numbers, etc., but only when a visitor voluntarily provides this information as part of a purchasing transaction. This information is only used to fulfill your order and for our marketing and research purposes.

Visitors and customers can choose if they want to receive product bulletins, company updates, new product announcements, and other promotional materials from us. You can also choose how we communicate with you: mail, email, phone, or fax. This consent is required by the Telephone Consumer Protection Act of 1991 and the Federal Trade Commission Do-Not-Call registry.

EIS will NOT sell, rent or give a visitor's personal information to any third party unless we ask for and received a visitor's permission at the time the personal information is collected.

EIS may share aggregate information about datalogger.com visitors with our advertisers, business partners, sponsors and certain others. As noted above, this aggregate information is only used to develop, improve and customize the datalogger.com web site to better serve our visitors.